

Theoretical Developments in Migration Studies

- Adamson, Fiona B., and Gerasimos Tsourapas. 2020. "The Migration State in the Global South: Nationalizing, Developmental, and Neoliberal Models of Migration Management." INTERNATIONAL MIGRATION REVIEW 54 (3): 853–82
- Boucher, A and Gest, J.2015. "Migration Studies at a Crossroads: A Critique of Immigration Regime Typologies." Migration Studies 3(2): 182-198
- Dahinden, J., C. Fischer, and J. Menet. 2021. "Knowledge Production, Reflexivity, and the Use of Categories in Migration Studies: Tackling Challenges in the Field." Ethnic and Racial Studies 44 (4): 535–54
- Deshingkar, Priya.2019. "The making and unmaking of precarious, ideal subjects – migration brokerage in the Global South." Journal of Ethnic and Migration Studies 45 (14): 2638-2654
- Düvell, F.2021. "Quo vadis, Migration Studies? The Quest for a Migratory Epistemology." Journal of Migration Research 1(1): 215-241
- Fiddian-Qasmiyeh, E. 2020. "Recentring the South in Studies of Migration." Migration and Society: Advances in Research 3 (2020): 1–18
- Gisselquist, R.M., and Tarp, F. 2019. "Migration Governance and Policy in the Global South: Introduction and Overview." International Migration 57 (4): 247–253
- Hollifield, James. 2020. "Is Migration a Unique Field of Study in Social Sciences? A Response to Levy, Pisarevskaya, and Scholten." Comparative Migration Studies 8 (1): 1–9

- Iosifides, T.2018. “Epistemological Issues in Qualitative Migration Research: Self-Reflexivity, Objectivity and Subjectivity.” In R. Zapata-Barrero, E. Yalaz. Qualitative Research in European Migration Studies. Cham: Springer
- Jacobs, Dirk.2018. “Categorizing What We Study and What We Analyse, and the Exercise
- Josh DeWind. 2020. “Blind Men and the Elephant: One View of the Field of Migration Studies.” Comparative Migration Studies 8 (1): 1–16
- King, R. 2020. “On Migration, Geography, and Epistemic Communities.” Comparative Migration Studies 8 (1): 1–10
- Kofman, E 2020. “Unequal Internationalisation and the Emergence of a New Epistemic Community: Gender and Migration.” Comparative Migration Studies 8 (1): 1–6.
- Leurs, K. ,Smets, K. 2018. “Five Questions for Digital Migration Studies: Learning From Digital Connectivity and Forced Migration In(to) Europe.” Social Media and Society 4 (1):1-16
- Levy, N., A. Pisarevskaya, and P. Scholten. 2020. “Between Fragmentation and Institutionalisation: The Rise of Migration Studies as a Research Field.” Comparative Migration Studies 8 (1): 1-24
- Nawyn, S. 2016. “Migration in the Global South: Exploring New Theoretical Territory.” International Journal of Sociology 46 (2):81-84
- Nawyn, S. 2016. “New Directions for Research on Migration in the Global South.” International Journal of Sociology 46: 163–168
- Nawyn, S.2016. “Gender and Migration: Integrating Feminist Theory into Migration Studies.” Sociology Compass 4/9 (2010): 749–765 of Interpretation”. In R. Zapata-Barrero, E. Yalaz, Qualitative Research in European Migration Studies. Cham: Springer

Pisarevskaya, A, Levy, N, and Scholten, P. 2020. “On Uneven Internationalisation, Disciplinary Diversity and Interpretation of Co-Citation Analysis.” Comparative Migration Studies 8 (1): 1–6

Pisarevskaya, Asya, Nathan Levy, Peter Scholten, and Joost Jansen. 2020. “Mapping Migration Studies: An Empirical Analysis of the Coming of Age of a Research Field.” Migration Studies 8 (3): 455–81

Yuk Wah Chan. 2020. “Asian Perspectives of Migration: A Commentary.” Comparative Migration Studies 8 (1): 1–5

Zapata-Barrero, R. 2018. “Applied Political Theory and Qualitative Research in Migration Studies”. In R. Zapata-Barrero, E. Yalaz. Qualitative Research in European Migration Studies. Cham: Springer